

John G. Waite Associates, Architects PLLC celebrates 20 years of preservation

2015 marks the twentieth anniversary of John G. Waite Associates, Architects PLLC. The roots of our firm go back even further to a general architectural practice founded before World War II. As one of the first architectural firms in the United States to deal solely with the preservation and reuse of existing buildings and the design of new buildings in historic settings, our firm has worked on some of the most significant structures in the country.

Over the next year, we will celebrate this milestone by sharing the stories behind some of our projects and connecting them to a timeline of our nation's history.

We are honored to have collaborated with clients, consultants, and contractors across the country, and we look forward to the challenges ahead.
